Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. has presented an innovation in antiquities and numismatics for some time now. The system is simple. When you want an antiquity or coin in the sale, just bid the estimated price by phone or mail. We will send you the antiquity or coin immediately. No waiting for the closing of the sale. Any and all antiquities or coins not sold before the closing date will be sent to the highest bidder on November 14, 1996.

EXAMPLE—You bid estimate on an item valued at $100.00 and if your bid is the 1st to reach us, you will receive the item immediately. If on the other hand, you bid $75.00 on the same item and are still the high bidder at the end of the sale, the item will be mailed to you on the closing date, November 14, 1996.

If you are ever in the area, stop in to see us! Of course, it's best to call first. Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. reserves the right to refuse any ridiculous bids.

GOLD

1. IONIA, UNCERTAIN; 550-500 BC, Diobol, 1.16g; Apparently unpublished. Calf head/Incuse The attribution of this coin to Ionia is based on the incuse, though we are confident of that attribution. Nice VF 2000
2. PHOCAIA; 490 BC, Hecte, 2.56g; Bodenstedt-35, Seventh recorded specimen. Man-headed bull. Exquisite archaic style, high relief. EF 3350
3. LYDIA, ACHAEMENID EMPIRE; 450-330 BC, Daric, 8.33g; Kneeling, running king holding bow and spear. Mint state 2250
4. MACEDONIA, ALEXANDER III; 336-323 BC, Stater, 8.54g; Price-2532C Sardes 334-323 BC. EF 1750
5. THRACE, COSON; 50-40 BC, Stater, 8.39g; BMC-3. Well struck for these with only a few minor flat spots. Mint state 2350

6. AURELIAN; 270-275 AD, Aureus, Antioch. RIC-377, 5.22g. Bust/Victory advancing right. Minted from unrecorded dies on both sides. Rare bust left. Unusual portrait struck in high relief. With only three specimens recorded, this is certainly a very rare coin. Near Mint State 4850
7. CONSTANTIUS II; 337-361 AD, Aureus, Antioch, 347-351 AD, 4.37g. RIC-83(R). Bust/On shield VOT/XX/MVLT/XXX, in ex. SMANH. Die break in front of face on obverse. VF 750

10. JUSTIN I; 518-527 AD, Solidus, 4.49g. Berk-38. This emperor is scarcer than most people realize. Near Mint State 600
11. JUSTINIAN I; 527-565 AD, Solidus, Constantinople, c. 537-538 AD, 4.45g. Berk-43, Hahn-6. Circular abrasion in right field. Otherwise, Mint State SOLD
12. JUSTINIAN I; 527-565 AD, Solidus, Constantinople, c. 542-565 AD, 4.39g. Berk-44, Hahn-7, Sear-140. EF 300
13. Another: Old scratch on obverse at twelve o'clock. EF 250
14. JUSTIN II; 565-578 AD, Solidus, Constantinople, c. Jan 566 AD, 4.42g. Berk-60, Hahn-4. Excellent strike. Double VICTORI on left of reverse. Mint State 375
15. JUSTIN II; 565-578 AD, Solidus, Alexandria, 4.48g. Hahn-13a. Planchet slightly curved at upper-left edge. Mint state 875
16. JUSTIN II; 565-578 AD, Solidus, Alexandria, 4.46g. Hahn-14. Weak obverse die. Some flat striking on lower reverse section, but mint state 875
17. TIBERIUS II; 578-582 AD, Solidus, Officina E, 4.48g. Hahn-4. Mint State 575
18. TIBERIUS II; 578-582 AD, Solidus, Officina Z, 4.44g. Hahn-4. Mint State 450
19. MAURICE; 582-602 AD, Solidus, Officina "H", 4.48g. Hahn-8. Quite rare

indictional year (T). Only about five coins recorded for this year in total, and none of the "H" Officina. Some flatness from striking. Mint State. Unpublished 500

20. MAURICE; 582-602 AD, 20-Silique, Sicily, 3.06g. Hahn-14. Planchet flaw on reverse which appears to be a scratch but is not. Otherwise, EF 1200
21. FOCAS; 602-610 AD, Solidus, 4.44g. Berk-101, Hahn-9. About EF 240
22. FOCAS; 602-610 AD, Semissis, 2.20g. Old scratch on reverse. Mint State 150
23. HERACLIUS; 610-641 AD, Solidus, c. 610-613 AD, 4.43g. Hahn-3. Near Mint State 425
24. HERACLIUS; 610-641 AD, Solidus. Hahn-5. Mint State 400
25. HERACLIUS; 610-641 AD, Solidus. Hahn-45. Graffiti and dig on reverse as well as two digs on obverse. VF 170
26. HERACLIUS; 610-641 AD, Solidus, Jerusalem, c. 613-625 AD, 4.38g. Hahn-77.4 (same dies). EF 1000
27. CONSTANS; II 641-668 AD, Solidus, Syracuse, c. 662-668 AD, 4.42g. Hahn-95. Old scratch on reverse to right of cross. Extremely sharp obverse portraits. Mint State 950
28. CONSTANTINE IV; 668-685 AD, Solidus, Jan/June 669 AD, Officina "S", 4.36g. Hahn-4B. This somewhat refined, highly unusual portrait of Constantine IV was struck for only six months in 669 AD. The "S" Officina letter which this coin carries is unpublished. A rare and desirable coin. It should also be noted that a stylized design replaces the horse and rider normally seen on Constantine IV's shield. Just a hair off mint state 1000
29. CONSTANTINE IV; 668-685 AD, Solidus, c. 681-685 AD, 4.34g. Berk-174, Hahn-10. Fine late style of Constantine, though die somewhat rusty. Mint State 750
30. TIBERIUS III; 698-705 AD, Solidus, Constantinople, 4.37g. Berk-193. EF+ 700
31. CONSTANTINE V; 741-775 AD, Solidus, c. 757-775 AD, 4.43g. Berk-227, DO-213. Choice EF 1000

34. MICHAEL III "THE DRUNKARD"; 842-867 AD, Semissis. DO-9. Struck in pink gold. This is the last coin we have in stock from a small group we bought of this very rare issue. Mint State 700
35. BASIL II; 976-1025 AD, Stamenon Nomisma. Berk-288, DO-6a. Mint State 800
36. BASIL II; 976-1025 AD, Tetarteron, 4.21g. Berk-291, DO-156. Scarce denomination. Wonderful quality. Mint State 1400
37. ROMANUS III; 1028-1034 AD, Stamenon Nomisma. Berk-295, DO-162. Wonderful strike, wonderful quality. Absolutely Mint State 550
38. MICHAEL IV; 1034-1041 AD, Stamenon Nomisma. Berk-298, Sear-1824. Very scarce issue, the first depicting the hand of God crowning the emperor. Mint State 1200
39. CONSTANTINE IX; 1042-1055 AD, Stamenon Nomisma. Berk-302. Except for a die break, every single letter of the legend, both obverse and reverse, is sharp, which is very rare for these coins. Thus, the high price. Mint State 450
40. CONSTANTINE IX; 1042-1055 AD, Stamenon Nomisma. Berk-303. Once again, every single letter is sharply struck on both obverse and reverse with an

- exquisite portrait of Christ and a wonderfully sharp portrait of the emperor.
Mint State 525
41. ISSAC I; 1057-1059 AD, Stamenon Nomisma, 4.41g. Berk-312, DO-1, S-1844. Flawless portrait of the standing emperor holding a sword in one hand and a labrum in the other. Mint State. Rare 1500
42. ISSAC II; 1057-1059 AD, Stamenon Nomisma, Constantinople, 4.44g. Berk-313, DO-2, Seaby-1843. Emperor standing holding drawn sword in left hand. Choice EF 1100

219. PERSIS, BAGADAT I; 290-280 BC, Tetradrachm. BM 28.195.1, Sear-6185. In 1925, G.F. Hill of the British Museum produced a book Select Greek Coins in which he enlarged coins up to three times their actual size. The purpose of the book was to show people what the finest Greek coins really look like. In his preface, he says that it is unfair to enlarge a Greek coin because they were not designed to be looked at under such great magnification. Many coins fall apart artistically under such examination which makes it necessary to use only the finest possible examples of Greek coinage. In this book, plate 12, example 1 illustrates a coin of Bagadat I. This was at the time the finest example in the British Museum. Hill also drew from the collections of Spencer-Churchill, Gulbenkian, Jameson, Lloyd, and Robinson who were active collectors at the time. Our coin is immensely better than the coin in the Hill book. With less than 10 examples recorded, this coin is not only one of the finest Hellenistic coins recorded, but one of the rarest. Near Mint State 20000

- JULIA PAULA, Wife of Elagabalus

437. Denarius, Rome, 219 AD, 3.20g. BM 318-320 (erroneously as Eastern), C-12(6Fr), RD-6. RX: CONCORDIA, Elagabalus and Paula standing, shaking hands. This coin is highly interesting because on Roman coins normally the emperor is larger than his wife, or at least the same size. In this case, Julia Paula is at least 1/2 a head taller than the emperor. A case like this is highly unusual. It is either an accurate reflection of their size differences, an engraver's error, or an attempt to belittle this quite belittlable emperor. Mint State. Rare . . . 1000

Statuary

660. Roman Military Portrait; Hadrianic or Antonine, 98 - 138 A.D. This over life-sized male head is carved in 85 % relief; the back of the head remains rough where it had been joined to the relief wall. The head has short curly hair that falls in thick wavy masses. The beard is kept short and is composed of tight curls with a mustache of straighter hair that almost appears combed. The hair shows no evidence of undercutting or drilling. The style of the hair and beard as well as their well-modeled, contrasting textures are typical of the period of Hadrian. The eyes are large and the gaze serious and direct, indicative of the Roman virtue of gravitas. The pupils have not been carved into the stone, but would have been added with paint, another indication that this work dates to the second century. A heavy brow gently shades the eyes. The figure's teeth are barely visible between the slightly parted lips. The skin has a silky smooth texture; only the cheeks are lightly pocked. Visible around the figure's neck are heavy drapery folds, evidence of a paludamentum, the military cloak. Most likely this is the head of a Roman military commander. The nose, the figure's left brow and the tip of his chin have been broken away. 13" high, 10" wide. 31000

661. Grave Relief of Sbardia Tateis; 50 B.C. from Aspendus, Pamphylia. The relief was described and illustrated as a parallel to one in the Antikenmuseum Bael by Rudolph Känel in Ernst Berger's book, Antike Kunstwerke aus der Sammlung Ludwig III Skulpturen, 1989, pp. 293 - 299. The article is summarized below.

The stele has a naiskos form with a fractured "springing" gable. The gable is supported by channeled half-columns with bases and simplified corinthian capitals. On the base is an inscription that reads: To Sbardia who is also called Tateis this stele is dedicated by Eumelos, the son of Aphrodisios, the father. The name Sbardia is a previously unknown variation of a name in the Pamphylian dialect. Her second name, Tateis, was a popular unisex name throughout Asia Minor. The purely Greek men's names, Eumelos and Aphrodisios, are both common names, especially so in Pamphylia.

The main field is primarily filled by a woman seated in a large chair placed at a diagonal angle. The figure is doubtlessly the Sbardia Tateis of the inscription who apparently died at a young age. She wears a chiton and a mantle draped over her head in a hood-like manner characteristic of Asia Minor. Her hands are held in the typical Pudicitia gesture, supporting herself with her left arm, her right arm folded over her abdomen. The chair, partially covered by Sbardia's mantle, is laid out in careful perspective, with the exception of the seated sphinxes that support the arms of the chair. To the left, a girl, identified as a servant by the fan she holds, leans on the arm of the chair. She is testament to Sbardia's high social status. To Sbardia's left, a hen pecks out of an overturned basket. The hen was intended to convey the image of Sbardia as the "attentive protector of the house", and was a prevalent symbol for the "good life". A butterfly-winged female, a Psyche, emerges from behind the chair. She obscures her face with the corner of a mantle, not out of sorrow for Sbardia's own fate, but expressing the sorrow of those she left behind. The Psyche also serves to illustrate that Sbardia's soul has left her body and lives on in the afterlife. This interpretation is further justified by the allegorical figures of the three fates in the pedimental zone watching over Sbardia's realized fate. The garland draped over the steer's heads lends a sacred aura to the piece.

The inscription was not carefully lettered; it has almost an italic slant, which indicates a date around the middle of the first century B.C. The manner in which the figures are simplified and the careful, but not perfect, perspective reinforce this dating.

Hellenistic gravestones from southern Asia Minor can be easily distinguished by certain characteristics from those from the rest of Asia minor. The most noticeable difference is that grave reliefs from southern Asia Minor are produced from local stone and generally take a naiskos form. Southern Asia Minor was quite conservative in nature. The archaic dialect was spoken there until late in the Hellenistic period. This conservatism is further illustrated by the women's traditional covering of their heads as illustrated in Sbardia's grave relief. Unlike the rest of the Hellenistic world, grave reliefs such as this one depicting the dead and their position in society are the exception in southern Asia Minor, the majority of the reliefs from this area display only the dead's name.

Sbardia's and other "provincial" figural grave reliefs from southern Asia Minor are of special interest because they are the precursors of developments that otherwise first appear in Roman Imperial times. The gravestones of the majority of the Hellenistic world depict the traditional scenes from the earthly lives of the dead. Lacking these traditions, the artists of southern Asia Minor enjoyed much greater iconographic freedom. Sbardia's grave relief illustrates this beautifully. Her gravestone is filled with elements that provide insight into Sbardia's personal characteristics as well as allegorical figures that illustrate contemporary beliefs about the separation of the body and the soul. Moreover, these elements are juxtaposed in a manner not intended to form a cohesive, unified composition, but to illustrate discrete ideas. 2' 5 1/2" high, 1' 5" wide, 5" deep. 29500

Ceramics

662. Mycenaean Stirrup Jar; 13th century B.C. This large stirrup jar is decorated with bands of deep orange rings that encircle the body with a single band of concentric semicircles. Geometric patterns on shoulders. False spout is decorated with concentric circles. 9 1/2" high. 4500

663. Eastern Greek Alabastron; 4th century B.C. The body of the vessel is decorated by bands of red rings. The neck and lip are painted red. 6" high. 1800

664. Etruscan Red-Figure Bell-Krater; 2nd half of the 4th century. One side depicts a Nike holding a wreath. The opposing scene is of a Nike driving a quadriga. Fantastic floral motifs flank scenes. An egg and tongue pattern decorates the underside of the lip. The full-length handles on this vase are quite unusual, generally vases of this type have handles that extend only mid-way up the body of the vase. 13 1/2" high. 12500

665. Attic Nolan Amphora; 440 B.C. Attic red-figure vase depicting a man dressed in a long cloak, wearing a wreath in his hair and holding a staff. Meander pattern delineates the ground line. The beautifully rendered bust of a warrior standing before a tree carrying a spear and a shield is visible on the fragmentary opposing side. The missing area has been filled. 13" high. 2800

666. Arretine Molded Red Ware Bowl. 20 B.C. to 40 A.D. Arretine pottery and its successor, Samian ware, formed the fine table ware of the Roman Empire from the late 1st cent. B.C. to the early 4th cent. A.D. These wares were primarily used for serving food, rather than food preparation and were so popular that they were often exported as luxury items. The bowl's pale orange material, thin walls and matt slip are characteristic of Arretine ware. The decoration, composed of theater masks and floral motifs, is restricted to the bowl's exterior and has a balanced feel. 3" high, 4 3/4" in diameter. 1850

Greek South Italian Vase Fragments; 440 - 300 B.C. from Apulia.

Terracottas

679. Hellenistic Terracotta Abdomen Portion of a Male. Segment spans from an intended division just above the bellybutton through the genitals. Broken at legs. Possibly a votive offering dedicated in thanks for a recovery.. 11" long by 12" wide. 2500

680. Terracotta Figurine of Socrates. Bearded figure in a toga draped over shoulder and wrapped around waist. The figure has an expressive face with almond shaped eyes, slightly parted lips and a long beard that falls in spiral tendrils. His large abdomen protrudes beneath his toga as he stands in a contra-posto position. According to the Münzen und Medaillen A.G. Basel February 1976 catalogue, this figure is one of many representations that compare Socrates to Papposilenos with the intent of illustrating philosophy as a means of obtaining immortality. 6 1/2" high. 1500

Oil Lamps

681. Egyptian Frog Oil Lamp; 3rd to 4th century A. D. The frog was the attribute of the Egyptian birth goddess, Heqet, as well as a symbol for resurrection. Early Christians later adopted the frog symbol into their iconographic system. In this beautiful example, the frog straddles the lamp, the fill hole in the center of its back. The dimpled surface of the frog body superbly emulates the frog's natural skin texture. Below the frog a geometric band encircles the lamp. Triangular potter's mark on underside. No handle. Cream slip with black discoloration from use. 3" long. 375

682. Roman Lamp; North Africa, 4th to 5th century A.D. During the fifth and sixth centuries the most common decorative themes on Carthaginian lamps were religious: either cross monograms or biblical scenes. This example has a well preserved half-length portrait of a bearded man wearing a toga in the discus. A parallel lamp (# 145 in The Museum of Fine Arts, Boston's catalogue, Romans and Barbarians, 1976) has been identified as Saint Peter based on the short, curly hair. Concentric triangle pattern surrounds the discus. Rich orange color. Spout broken. 5" long. 650

683. Roman Red Slip Oil Lamp; Carthage, 4th to 5th century A. D. Ferocious stylized lion growls in discus. Alternating geometric and floral boarder pattern. Some discoloration on nozzle. Handle Broken. 4 1/2" long.. . . . 325

684. Roman Red Slip Oil Lamp; North Africa, 4th to 5th century A.D. The discus depicts an Orant, a female figure with upraised arms as if in prayer. The figure was adopted from Greek art by the early Christians as the symbol for the faithful dead. Compare to #85 in Frank Sternberg, Zurich auction XXIII (November, 1989) A similar schema was used in a lamp identified as Daniel in the Lion's Den (# 118 in the same catalogue.) Handle broken. 5 3/4" long. 400

685. Roman Red Slip Oil lamp; Carthage, 4th to 5th century A.D. Discus display an ornate amphora. Scroll pattern border. Beige slip. 5" long 300

686. Roman Red Slip Oil Lamp; Carthage, 4th to 5th century A.D. In discus bust of Sol (Roman sun-god, equivalent of Greek god Apollo), rays radiating from face. Geometric triangle boarder pattern. Minimal discoloration around nozzle. 5 1/4" long. 325

687. Roman Red Slip Oil Lamp; Carthage, 4th to 5th century A. D. Chi Rho (Christ's initials) in discus. Boarder pattern of alternating concentric horseshoes and triangles. Some dark discoloration from use around nozzle. 5 3/4" long. 350

688. Roman Oil Lamp; 2nd to 3rd century A.D. Discus portrays a figure between elephant tusks. Inscription on underside. Buff clay with a purple-brown slip. 4" long. 250

689. Roman Oil Lamp; 1st century A.D. Discus portrays Nike driving two horse chariot. Buff clay with dark purple-black slip. 4 1/2" long. 475

690. Roman Red Slip Oil Lamp; Gaulish, 20 - 90 A.D. Discus depicts lovers on a bed. The man reclines, the woman straddles him. Probably dwarf entertainers. Orange - brown slip. 3 3/4" long. 185

691. Roman Red Slip Lamp; Gallia and Britannia, 20 - 90 A.D. This beautiful specimen depicts a lunging gladiator in profile. Light orange clay with a white slip. 3 1/2" long. 400

692. Cypriot Oil Lamp; Salamis, 40 - 100 A.D. The discus depicts an eagle with spread wings and a raised leg. An exact parallel to # Q2414 in D.M. Bailey's Catalogue of the Lamps in the British Museum. Buff Clay. 3 1/2" long. 300
693. Byzantine Terracotta Oil Lamp; 450 - 600 A.D. from Levant. Nozzle top design. Relief lines radiating out from the fill hole accentuate shape of the vase. Buff color. Minimal discoloration from use. 3 3/4" long. 100
694. Roman Bronze Oil Lamp Filler; 2nd - 3rd cent A.D. Elegant basin with lotus leaf handle and three spouts. Incised circle decoration on handle. Charcoal colored patina with green speckles throughout. 4 1/2" long. 325

Misc. Bronze Objects

695. Amlash Bronze Stag Figurine; 1000 B.C. from Galin. The standing stag has tined antlers and a long cylindrical body. Green patina. 2" high. 800
696. Bronze Belt fragment; Uiatu, 9th to 7th century B.C. The Luristanian people were renowned as remarkable metal-workers and this fragment is testament thereof. This fragment has two registers depicting a mythical chase scene of lion-headed birds with bows and arrows hunting griffins. Incredibly fine detail. Golden brown patina with minimal incrustation. Mounted with clips on a black metal base. 2" high by 3 1/2" wide. 600
697. Bronze Axe Head; Luristan, 800 B.C. Blade is chipped and uneven, other scratches and signs of wear. Dappled brown and green patina. Mounted on a black metal base. 3 1/2" long. 350
698. Bronze Mirror; Greek, 4th to 3rd century B.C. The piece washed in a gorgeous patina of various shades of green. Mounted with clips on a black metal base 7" in diameter. 500
699. Monogrammed Bronze Arrowhead from the Seleucid Empire; Hellenistic Period. Epistolon on one side. mounted on a black metal base. Others available upon request. 3 1/4" long. 150
700. Roman Bronze Statuette of Apollo; 1st to 2nd century A.D. This exquisite figure stands in the contra-posto position, looking down and to the right. The muscles of the chest, abdomen and buttocks are naturally and sensitively rendered. Apollo wears only a wreath with his hair tied in a knot at the nape of his neck. The piece is covered in a deep brown and green patina. 4 1/4" high including base. 7500
701. Roman Bronze Nail; 1st to 2nd century A.D. This unique nail depicts the 12 signs of the zodiac, three carved on each side of the nail. The mushroom shaped head is decorated with lines radiating out from the center. Nails with magical inscriptions were found in a magician's tomb. They are believed to have been pounded into coffins to protect the dead against evil spirits. This nail is thought to have had an apotropaic function. Presumably it was pounded into a building, ship, or coffin to protect the owner under all the signs of the zodiac. The piece has a gray-green patina. Mounted on a black metal base. 3" long. 3500
702. Roman Bronze Furniture Fitting; 1st to 2nd century A.D. Eagle perched upon a ram's head atop a multi-tiered base. Green patina with whitish incrustation. 3" high. 650
703. Roman Bronze Applique of a Griffin; 1st to 2nd century A.D. Griffins and were fantastic beasts with the body of a lion and the head and wings of an eagle that have their roots in Indian mythology. According to myth, the griffins lived in the Rhipaeen mountains and guarded the gold of the north from the Arimaspians. The head of this fantastic animal is expressively moulded and has a beautiful olive green and brown patina. 2" long. 375
704. Roman Bronze Key; 1st to 2nd century A.D. The key is decorated with incised lines on the handle and a chevron pattern near the teeth. One small fragment missing from one of the teeth. Overall charcoal patina. Slight repair to ring. 2 1/4" long. 325

LATE ARRIVALS

ALEXANDER III (336-323 BC)

729. Tetradrachm, Amphipolis, Lifetime Issue, 17.20g. Price-104. Struck with crisp, fresh dies. Absolutely mint state. 1000
730. Tetradrachm, Amphipolis, 320-317 BC, 17.25g. Price-124a (same dies). Laurel branch in reverse field. We have never handled this type before. It is exactly the same dies as in Price, but in mint state, and must be extremely rare. 1000
731. Tetradrachm, Pella, c. 325-315 BC, 17.23g. Price-204. Only a handful of dies bearing a portrait of Alexander as Hercules facing left were ever produced. On an artistic basis, this is certainly one of the finest of those dies. The centering is near perfect. The strike is in high relief, making this a highly desirable, first-class piece of early Hellenistic artwork, especially since the youthful Alexander is so totally idealized in this portrait. Near Mint State 4500

732. Tetradrachm, Myriandrus (Alexandria ad Issum), c. 325-323 BC, 17.25g. Price-3235 (same obv. die). This coin was probably struck at the mint listed, but could also have been struck at Issus. Nevertheless, the dies are wonderful with a graceful legend running counter-clockwise from six o'clock up to two o'clock. The reverse die is a masterpiece in every way, including its wonderfully proportioned seated Zeus holding a well-feathered, highly-detailed eagle. The obverse die struck in excellent relief has beautiful stylized hair-curls coming up under the lion's muzzle. Beautifully centered on the planchet, it is framed in a complete border of dots. Struck at the end of Alexander's lifetime, this is one of the most beautiful Alexander tetradrachms we have ever handled. 1750

733. Didrachm, Babylon, c. 325-323 BC, 8.48g. Price-3603. Didrachms of Alexander, along with decadrachms, are by far the rarest of his issues. This didrachm struck at Babylon, Alexander's last capital, during the final two years of his life is one of the best mints you could own a didrachm from. Iconographically, the reverse is quite interesting as the top of Zeus' staff goes beyond the border of dots; in other words, beyond the end of the coin. If this coin were not struck somewhat off-center, we would not be able to see the full design of this reverse. There is slight flatness on the drapery at Zeus' waist, and a small scrape at the top of the lion's scalp. Otherwise, this coin is struck in high relief with a composition and rendering of wonderful artistic quality. EF+. Extremely Rare 4500

734. PERGAMON, PHILETAERUS; 282-263 BC, Tetradrachm, the Pergamene Mint, under Philetaerus, c. 274-263 BC, 16.93g. Portrait of Seleucus. NNM 76, 1936, Pl. 9, #1. Philetaerus the eunuch became a eunuch as the result of being trampled as a child at a local funeral. While this may have crushed him in some ways, it in no way crushed his intellect or his ambition, for Philetaerus was the craftiest politician of the Hellenistic era, being allied with nearly all of the successors of Alexander who, while they killed each other, never gave him a single scratch, with him dying in bed at an advanced age, something which none of the successors of Alexander were able to accomplish. To tell the story from its near beginnings, Philetaerus was an officer in the army of Docimus, a general of Antigonus Donatus. When Antigonus was killed at the battle of Ipsus, Philetaerus was able to become a lieutenant of one of Antigonus' enemies, Lysimachus. This was quite a feat, as Lysimachus was very stingy and very suspicious. Yet, he placed Philetaerus in charge of his treasury of 9000 talents of silver, stored at his fortress in Pergamon. Under the directions of Lysimachus, Philetaerus began striking Lysimachus' coinage, which bore the first official portraits of the now-deified Alexander. Due to an intrigue involving Arsinoë, the wife of Lysimachus and the future queen of Egypt, Philetaerus, fearing his own safety wrote Seleucus of Syria asking him for help. In 282 BC, Seleucus invaded Asia Minor, defeated and killed Lysimachus, leaving Seleucus the last of Alexander's successors. Seleucus now left Philetaerus in charge of the treasury and the wealthy little district of Pergamum. It seemed that Philetaerus had weathered the storm. But within only a few months, Seleucus was assassinated. In an adroit move, Philetaerus purchased the body of the murdered Seleucus with bribes, had it cremated, and sent the ashes to Seleucus' son, Antiochus I. Philetaerus then, with all of his wealth and power, went to the aid of Antiochus. At this point, he first struck coins in Seleucus' name, but later struck coins in his own name but bearing Seleucus' portrait. These coins helped stabilize the Syrian Empire, which lasted for nearly 200 years after this event. Philetaerus lived 18 years longer and died in his 80th year. The coin we offer today is one of the finest recorded examples of this politically-important issue. The issue is also widely acknowledged as one of the finest examples of Hellenistic art ever struck. These coins normally come either in VF condition or less and somewhat corroded. This example is a full, hard strike with no weakness whatsoever, in ultra-high relief, and perfectly centered. In addition, it is a rare variant with no A in the exergue. In 32 years, this is the first example of this coin we have ever handled. A Greek/Hellenistic masterpiece. Near Mint State 25000
